American Tree Farm System Tools

The American Tree Farm System (ATFS) is a network of landowners who care deeply about generations to enjoy. It is the largest and oldest sustainable woodland system in the US, with volunteer committees in 42 states. These committees are made up of landowners, foresters, and others interested in learning more about ATFS and how you can get involved?

5. Read through the Addendum and fill in the appropriate fields.
 - a. These fields include check boxes to show your commitment to the different elements of the Standards (these include sustainable forestry, forest health, soil and water, responsible pesticide use and prescribed burning, wildlife, forests of recognized importance, and special sites).
 - b. You will also be asked to document some of the research you have done about your land, including talking with experts, consulting state databases, etc. We provide you with online tools to assist with your research.
 - c. You don't need to finish your addendum at one time. You can come back and complete or edit your addendum at any time.
 - d. When completed, check Yes and type in your signature to confirm that you have completed this for to the best of your knowledge.
 - e. After completed, you will receive an email with a pdf version of your ATFS Addendum.
