

MyLandPlan.org

the woodland owner's resource

What is MyLandPlan.org?

www.MyLandPlan.org is an online resource for woodland owners to help you protect and enjoy your woods. It is provided to you, for free, by the American Forest Foundation.

Why do I need MyLandPlan.org?

You are among the lucky ones who own woodlands! You care about being a good steward of your woods and yet, there's a lot to know about keeping your woods healthy. My Land Plan organizes this information for you and helps you keep track of all your woodland activities and experiences in one place. And with this exclusive planning tool, you'll receive specialized information to help you do right by your land. My Land Plan can connect you with other woodland owners and professionals that share your love for the woods. Join the thousands of landowners throughout the country who use MyLandPlan.org.

Why use it? Because your woods will thank you for it.

Sounds great, how do I get started?

Create a free account at www.mylandplan.org/signup.

Features of My Land Plan

- Make a map of your land and mark special features such as trails, water bodies, good picnic spots or places where you're likely to see wildlife.
- Set goals for your land--such as increasing wildlife or building trails--and see specific steps to accomplish them.
- Keep track of your To Dos in the Task List tool.
- Access resources and information about local government agencies, nonprofits and businesses that can help you with specific tasks and questions.
- Keep a journal to record your experiences on your land in words and pictures. Share journal entries with your friends and family
- Tell the story of your land in the Property History where you can upload old photos and archive all the important documents for your land in one place.
- Find a Forester in the Forester Directory to help you accomplish all your goals.